

MAY BE A SWINDLE.

"Guarantee Electric Photograph Co." Not Known in This City.

Suburban Residents Have Paid Money for Pictures.

Agent "Applegate" Seems to Have Done a Flourishing Business.

What appears to be a new form of swindle has invaded the rural districts in the vicinity of New York.

A man, usually calling himself Thomas J. Applegate, of Red Bank, but sometimes varying his name and address according to the exigency of the case, represents himself as the agent of "The Guarantee Electric Photograph Company, Limited," of 100 Sixth avenue.

In this capacity he calls at houses within easy range of the city and offers for sale tickets at 50 cents apiece, entitling the purchaser on presentation of a ticket and an additional payment of 50 cents to "six electric-burnished" photographs and one large photograph, 16 by 20 inches in size. If the purchaser does not care for the large picture he can have the six cabinet-sized photographs without paying the additional money.

One of the principal inducements offered by "Applegate" is the fact that the tickets need not be used to sit for his pictures. The studio goes to the customer.

On each ticket is printed in addition to the terms of the contract, a notice that the Guarantee Electric Photograph Company desires it to be understood that it does not sell any frames.

A search for the office of the Guarantee Electric Photograph Company at the address indicated on one of the tickets brought to light the fact that such a concern never existed there. The only occupants of the building are the family of C. Perceval, who keeps a "delicatessen" store on the ground floor.

Next door, however, at 58, is a well-known photographer's gallery. There it was learned that several people had inquired after the "Guarantee Electric Photograph Company."

A man from Rutherford, N. J., was here some time ago, said the gentleman in charge of the studio. "I showed five tickets which he said had never been sold to him for $1 each. I had never heard of the concern before, and to me the whole affair looks like a swindle."

"The name of the agent on the Rutherford man's tickets was not Applegate," cannot now recall what it was, but I do remember that the terms were substantially the same as the Applegate tickets."

The latest field which Mr. Applegate has chosen for his operations is in Highlands, Seaside and Atlantic Highlands. Here he seems to have been doing a larger business than anywhere else, judging from the number of complaints that have come in from those places in the last few days.

Among those who are anxious to know when the "Guarantee Electric Photograph Company" will drop in to take their pictures is Charles T. Malson, of Seaside, N. J. In a letter to "The Evening World" he requests that a reporter be sent to the Sixth avenue establishment to find out whether Applegate is its agent, and if so whether he is authorized to collect the 50 cents.

Scottie Gets In at Last.

The Anchor line steamer Scottie, from Trieste, which was obliged to put into Halifax, short of coal, after encountering a severe storm on June 1, off the Azores, reached this port today.

THIS COW HAS TUBERCULOSIS.

Comes from a Farm Up the State and Was Meant for Food.

Not Yet Known Whether Milk from This Dairy Was Shipped Here.

Meat Inspector Mars, of the Health Department, reported to Sanitary Superintendent Roberts today that he had discovered a cow in the Union Stock Yards, at Sixth street and the North River, suffering from tuberculosis, and which was intended to be butchered for the market.

It was ascertained that the cow had been shipped from the farm of S. V. Klinger at Fullerton station, on the Harlem Railroad.

Dr. Roberts stationed an inspector to visit the farm, together with Dr. Johnson, the veterinary of the Department, to make a thorough examination of the herd.

A letter was sent to Dr. Florence Donovan, Syracuse, N. Y., who is the Secretary of the State Commission appointed by the last Legislature on tuberculosis.

It could not be ascertained whether the milk had been shipped to the city from this farm.

REDMOND WOULDN'T TREAT.

Then Flanagan and His Pals Beat and Kicked the Sailor.

James Flanagan, twenty-two years old, of 124 Park Row, was held in $1,000 bail in the Tombs Court this morning for assaulting James Redmond, a sailor, of 271 Palmetto street, Brooklyn.

Redmond was passing through South street last night, when Flanagan, in company with two other men, demanded money from him.

When they did not get it they jumped on Redmond and beat him in a frightful manner. He rose and cut open his eyes and bruised his cheeks he received. Flanagan was identified as the man who did the kicking.

I Cannot Sleep.

This is the season when many people are heard making this complaint. The nervous system is out of order. It has become weakened by overwork or worry, or by the change of season. Work seems to be a drag, and there is a real, worn-out feeling from morning till night.

ACCUSED OF PATRICIDE.

Arthur Rack's Father Was Bound and Stabbed.

In Heat of Passion the Boy Half Confesses the Crime.

Arthur Rack, aged eighteen, of 414 West Twenty-sixth street, was arraigned this morning in Jefferson Market Police Court on a charge of murdering his father.

The youth was arrested last night by Detective Churchill, of the West Twenty-sixth street station. Mrs. Bennett, of 417 West Twenty-sixth street, and Mrs. Simmons, of 41 West Twenty-seventh street, had run up to the detective last night and told him that this young Rack had threatened to take his own mother's life, and while doing so had told her that he would do her up just the same as he had done up his father.

This saying of the young desperado supplies a ready solution to the mystery of the death of his sixty-six-year-old father, Edward Rack, who disappeared last New Year's night, and whose body was found in March in the water at the foot of Chambers street, with a stab wound in his side and his hands bound.

Soon after the discovery of the body Central Office detectives made an arrest, but the prisoner easily cleared himself of the suspicion of being in any way connected with Rack's death, and was released. Since then and until last night the case had been involved in deep mystery.

Mrs. Rack, the young man's mother, upon whose labor the good-for-nothing son depended for subsistence, last night refused to give him any more money. Every cent she had ever given him, it is claimed, went for strong drink and other vicious purposes.

"My patience is at last broken," said Mrs. Rack to her son last night. "I am going back to Ireland, and you may as well make your living here with-out me as best you can."

Infuriated by these words, the young man picked up a pointed knife, and holding it within an inch of his mother's throat, exclaimed: "If you go to Ireland and try to shake me I'll do you as I did my father."

Mrs. Rack ran out of the room, and at the house of Mrs. Bennett, where she also found Mrs. Simmons, she told of what her son had threatened to do.

The detectives, in court this morning, asked for time to perfect their evidence against Rack for the murder of his father, and he was accordingly remanded.

SMITH'S ORDERS NOT FILLED.

Said He Was an Oklahoma Buyer and Negotiated for Goods.

One Firm Grew Suspicious and His Arrest Followed.

Samuel Smith, who has been claiming that he is from Oklahoma, had some difficulty in keeping his spirits up when the fact was established at Jefferson Market Court today that he was the son of a Brooklyn man living at 145 Wallack street.

Smith has been living at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where he owes a big bill. The specific complaint against him was representing himself as an Eastern buyer for a large Oklahoma firm and placing orders for goods of every description.

A firm with whom he was negotiating for the shipment of a $22,000 order grew suspicious, and yesterday when he walked in the Broadway clothing store of Hammermough & Saks they sent for a policeman.

The policeman, of the Mercer street station, had Smith arrested. It does not appear that Smith had obtained any of the goods which he represented to be under false representations, from various firms. But it is said that he had arranged to go West at a moment's notice.

Among other firms who had prepared goods for shipment on Smith's order were Dickinson & Brown, of hatmakers at 34-52 Kosciuszko street, Brooklyn, where he had arranged for goods valued at $2,500; Louis Meyer & Son, 47-42 Broadway, whose bill would have been $2,500; Thurber, Whynland Company and Claffin, Allen & Co.

HELD HUNDREDS AT BAY.

East Chicago Desperado Arrested After a Fierce Fight.

(By Associated Press.)

EAST CHICAGO, June 15.—For several hours last night Paddy Golden held a crowd of 600 men at bay here at the point of two ugly-looking revolvers. Golden, who gained considerable notoriety in Chicago in 1919, when he defeated Capt. Dalton in a fifty-round fight on "Black Jack" Yataw's bumboat on Lake Michigan, has been employed in the East Chicago Iron and Steel Works.

Last night he tried to shoot Attorney Robert Ross, but before he could press the trigger the pistol was crushed aside. This made him frantic, and, flourishing a revolver in each hand in the faces of the bystanders, he rushed toward the building dared to arrest.

Finally, however, he was taken, but only after a fierce fight, in which several of his captors had their heads cut. Golden declared that he would kill Alderman Ross and every member of the City Council, including Mayor Penman.

TO HEAR OF PADRONES.

Congressional Committee Will Be Told About the System.

Baron Fava Aroused by the Muciating of His Countrymen.

Mr. Stump Will Confer with Dr. Senner and Mr. McSweeney.

Immigration Commissioner Senner anticipates that the Congressional Immigration Committee, which will visit Ellis Island to-morrow morning, will endeavor to gain information with regard to the padrone system, and to ascertain what legislation is necessary to correct the evil.

"I will certainly do all I can," said Dr. Senner, "to furnish information to the Committee, and although the Commission appointed by Secretary Carlisle will not be ready to make any report for a considerable time, it will serve a good purpose to keep every one interested in the question, so that Congress may take action when it is necessary."

"It is hardly possible that we can suggest legislation during the present session of Congress, but of course the Immigration Committee will desire information, and we will furnish all we can."

It is expected that Superintendent of Immigration Stump will accompany the House Committee to New York, and he will therefore be able to confer with Dr. Senner and Mr. McSweeney with regard to the work the Commission appointed by Secretary Carlisle is to perform. This Commission, as stated in yesterday's "Evening World," is to devote particular attention to the padrone system, and will be furnished with data collected by this paper in its recent exposures of the system.

It has been learned that Baron Fava, the Italian Ambassador at Washington, is anxious to have the padrone system suppressed, and that he has had conferences in regard to the matter with the President, Secretaries Gresham and Carille and Mr. Stump. Baron Fava is anxious that the United States should send a representative to Italy to see if it is not possible to get at the root of the evil, and it is probable that one of the members of the commission appointed by the Secretary will be sent on this mission.

Nothing definite will be decided upon, however, until after the House Immigration Committee returns to Washington and Mr. Stump has had a conference with Dr. Senner and Mr. McSweeney.
